Party time for the divas

This event saw the ladies come out in glamorous avatars. Among those who were seen posing for the shutterbugs included actor Lara Dutta who came out in a combination of black and animal print. Pretty sheaths seemed to be favourite among the ladies. While actor Dia Mirza was seen in a blue, printed one, actor Nathalia Kaur picked a plain red, classic version. Others who were spotted at the event included actor Shonali Nagrani and Preeti Jhangiani.

comedian Johnny Lever, who rarely makes public appearances, was there too. All the guests paid respect to the late Farooq Sheikh by placing flowers on a portrait of the actor, who passed away in December 2013.

Amit can't wait to connect with Delhi

After giving music for over 20 films and currently riding high on the success of his recently released film, Queen, music director Amit Trivedi can't wait to perform in the Capital. The 34-year old National award winning music composer got chatty when we asked him if he was planning to perform in the city. "I've always been wanting to perform in Delhi, but I just don't know why I have not been able to make it as yet," says Trivedi.

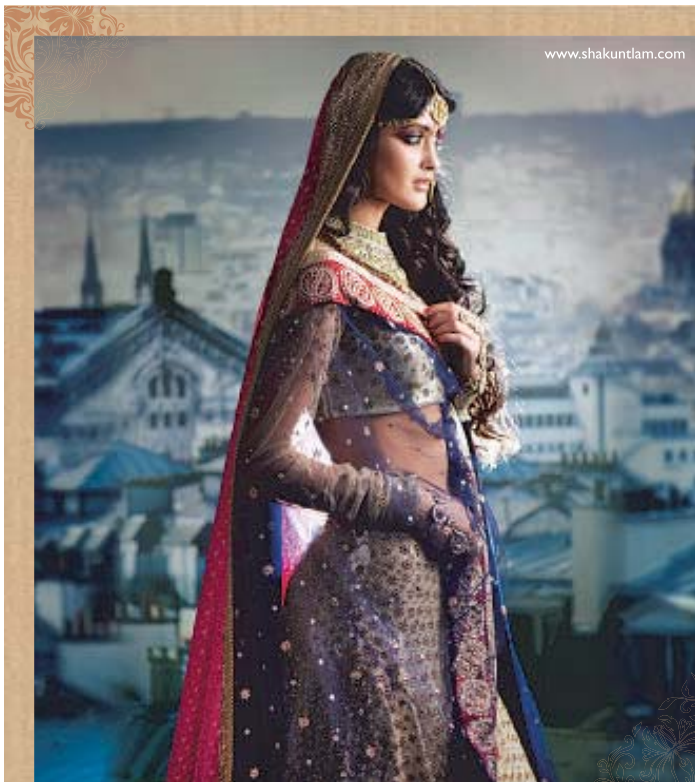

His performance at Netaji Subhas Institute of Technology (NSIT) got cancelled recently, and more than anyone else, Amit seemed to be unhappy about it. "From whatever I have known from my fans and friends, I have a huge fan base among the youth in Delhi. So when I got to know that the show got cancelled, it was more disappointing for me, as I had to let go off one chance to connect to my Delhi fans." He also admits that it was because of the budget that his show got cancelled. "It's not individually about me, as an artist, I would have loved to sing for my fans. But at the same time, I also have my troupe performing, and it's not fair if they are not paid for their performance."
